EAMDA's Role as BDS, Learning Journey & Market Linkage Partner

Preparing young people, youth groups, MSMEs and market actors to transition into sustainable, investment-ready enterprises

EAMDA's Mandate

As the partner responsible for Business Development Services, the learning journey and market linkages, EAMDA supports the implementation strategy by ensuring youth, youth groups, cooperatives, and market actors are prepared, connected and supported to build sustainable enterprises.

Four implementation components, our intervention and initiatives

Component 1

Access to Finance

Component 2

Entrepreneurship & BDS

Component 3a

Gender Responsive
Strategies & Safeguarding

Component 3b

Building Capacity for the market Actors

EAMDA's Approach: Component 1

Access to Finance

KEY CHALLENGES

- Young people lack collateral and formal credit history
- Youth enterprises are often informal and not investment-ready
- Limited understanding of financial products and requirements
- Financial institutions perceive youth enterprises as high risk

1 Strengthen Credit Readiness of Youth Enterprises

- Profile and segment youth enterprises by maturity, financing needs, and growth potential
- Support development of business plans, cash flow projections, records, and investment proposals

2 Establish pipeline for Financing Pathways

- Link youth groups, cooperatives, and enterprises with SACCOs and alternative financiers
- Promote financing beyond collateral, including group lending, asset financing, supplier credit, and value chain finance.

3 Build Financial Literacy

- Integrate financial management, loan management, savings culture, and responsible borrowing into the YEC business support and learning journey

EAMDA's Approach: Component 2

Entrepreneurship Skills & BDS

KEY CHALLENGES

- Many youth enterprises are at early stages of development
- Limited business management skills, record keeping, marketing, and growth strategies
- Training is often not linked to practical business application

1 Structured Youth Enterprise Learning Journey

- Phased approach covering enterprise readiness, start-up support, growth acceleration, and investment readiness
- A detailed business tool kit to support the learning journey for young entrepreneur's

2 Strengthen YEC Capacity & Deliver Practical BDS

- Equip YECs with coaching tools, assessment approaches, mentorship skills, and reporting frameworks
- Support business planning, financial management, marketing, product improvement, digital adoption and formalization

3 Introduce Peer Learning Mechanisms

- Establish youth enterprise forums where successful entrepreneurs share experiences and lessons.
- Opportunity for partners engagement and Industry experts collaborations

EAMDA's Approach: Component 3a

Market Actors & Safeguarding

KEY CHALLENGES

- Limited understanding among market actors on inclusion of youth, women, and vulnerable groups
- Potential safeguarding risks during engagement with youth enterprises
- Financial and market actors may lack systems for inclusive service delivery

1 Strengthen Capacity of Market Actors

- Build capacity of MSMEs and market actors on gender equality, disability inclusion, youth inclusion, and social safeguards
- Total Market actors reached 54. Only one engaged

2 Inclusive Engagement & Safeguarding

- Support market actors to review products and services for accessibility to youth, women, and marginalized groups
- Establish safeguarding principles for all engagements, trainings, and mentorship; work with safeguarding specialists

3 Promote Inclusive Financing & Market Practices

- Encourage market actors and MSMEs to develop youth-friendly financing, procurement, and market linkage approaches

EAMDA's Approach: Component 3a

Market Actors & Safeguarding

KEY CHALLENGES

- Limited capacity to engage effectively with financial institutions and markets
- Weak linkages between youth organizations and value chain opportunities

Enterprise Development & Market Linkages

- Assess group enterprise MSMEs potential and support viable business model development across value chains
- Map market actors and facilitate B2B engagements, value chain participation, and commercial partnerships

Continuous Learning & Support

- Use YECs as community-based enterprise coaches providing ongoing mentorship, monitoring, and growth support
